Chapter 6—General Academic Requirements

E. Maximum Time Limits for Completion of Degree

1. Master’s Degrees. Most full-time students enrolled in master’s degree programs at WSU require 2-3 years for completion of their program. The maximum time allowed for completion of a master’s degree is 6 years from the beginning date of the earliest course applied toward the degree. The Graduate School recognizes some programs are designed for the part-time student and can be expected to require a longer completion period. As appropriate, departments may request an extension of this time limit as described below.

2. Doctoral Degrees. Most students enrolled in doctoral degree programs at WSU require 4-6 years for completion of their program. The maximum time allowed for completion of a doctoral degree is 10 years from the beginning date of the earliest course applied toward the degree. The Graduate School recognizes that part-time students may require a longer completion period. As appropriate, departments may request an extension of this time limit as described below.

Each program for a doctoral degree is considered individually. In all cases, work for the degree must be completed within three years of the date of the satisfactory completion of the preliminary examination. However, the courses on the program of study remain valid only for 10 years from the earliest date of the course(s) applied toward the degree. It is imperative that students work closely with their programs to develop a timeline for completion that successfully accommodates both of these deadlines. At least four months must elapse between preliminary and final examinations for doctoral degrees.

ADDED TO POLICY:

3. Certificates. Full-time students enrolled in certificate programs generally require 2-4 years to complete their certificate program; part-time students may require a longer completion period. The maximum time allowed for completion of a certificate is 6 years from the beginning date of the earliest course applied toward the certificate. Students may request an extension of this time as described in Section F.

2. The policy for Short-Term Parental Leave Plan for Graduate Students is in Exhibit C as follows:
Washington State University is seriously committed to providing a quality graduate education in a family-friendly environment. As part of that effort, the Graduate School has developed a Short-Term Parental Leave plan for graduate students who become parents. Parental leave is particularly important to graduate students as they try to balance the demands of their work, graduate studies, and personal life. Pregnancy, childbirth and adoption are significant events in a graduate student’s life that require time away from the classroom and the lab. Parental leave will help students to maintain their student status during these life-changing events. This plan will assist graduate students and their families, reduce attrition and improve time to degree, and standardize the treatment of graduate students who become parents during their studies at WSU.

Background: The purpose of these guidelines is to address situations in which graduate students at all campus locations are not able to fulfill their duties and responsibilities on a short-term basis due to the birth or adoption of a child, which will be referred to as Parental Leave through this guideline. “Short-term” is defined as leave from duties for up to four consecutive weeks. In cases in which short-term Parental Leave is needed, the faculty advisor, the program, and the Graduate School should make a good faith effort to minimize the impact that such circumstances have on graduate students by helping them to maintain full-time enrollment status during the semester in which the absence is needed. This is particularly important so that the student maintains financial aid eligibility, loan deferment, and visa status. International students should check with the International Programs Office regarding their visa status.

Plan Summary: The Short-term Parental Leave plan provides up to four consecutive weeks of paid leave for the period directly before or after the birth or adoption of a child. During this time, the student continues to be enrolled (i.e., tuition will be paid/waivers will remain in place) and, if on an assistantship appointment, the student will continue to receive graduate assistant health benefits and his/her salary.

Eligibility: The Short-term Parental Leave plan applies to all full-time enrolled graduate students at all campus locations anticipating the birth or adoption of a child. Eligible graduate students are those with a current full-time appointment who have been full-time graduate students for at least one academic year (two academic semesters, not including the summer) at the time Parental Leave is taken. Students must maintain their full-time enrollment status during Parental Leave.

- A full-time graduate student on an assistantship appointment is eligible for four consecutive weeks of paid Parental Leave from his/her graduate program. In the event that both parents are full-time graduate students at WSU, only one may take Parental Leave or the four consecutive weeks may be shared between them.
- Full-time graduate students who are not on an assistantship may request Parental Leave without tuition or salary support.

Financial Support for Graduate Assistants: The Graduate School has established a process to provide temporary financial assistance to programs to enable them to continue to support students on graduate assistant appointments during Short-term Parental Leave. These funds will be provided by the Graduate School to ensure that the graduate student’s funding is continued during their approved leave period and the research/teaching efforts of the department are not adversely affected. Programs should request salary replacement funds for graduate assistants who seek Parental Leave via the Short-Term Parental Leave form, which should be signed by the student, the faculty advisor and the Program Chair, and submitted to the Dean of the Graduate School. These short-term replacement funds will be available for graduate assistants on any funding source. In addition to the temporary salary funds, the Graduate School will maintain resident and non-resident tuition waivers for the assistant during the approved Short-term Parental Leave period, not to exceed the current appointment period. For students on grant funding, the Graduate School will provide flexible tuition waivers to replace the QTR during the approved Short-term Parental Leave period.

Short-term Parental Leave Academic Plan: Faculty and other mentors are expected to work with graduate students to make fair and appropriate alternative arrangements during Parental Leave in the form of a written Parental Leave Academic Plan. Graduate assistants should alert their program chair and advisor as soon as they know of the impending need for a leave so that any necessary work adjustments and academic arrangements may be made. Students who are planning to request a Parental Leave should meet with their faculty advisor no less than ten weeks prior the proposed start of the leave to develop a plan for their academic work. The agreed upon plan should be attached to the Short Term Parental Leave form before it is submitted to the Graduate School. The Disabilities Resource Center should be consulted if there are medical issues that require reasonable accommodation.

While graduate assistants will not be required to perform any duties during their period of Parental Leave, they may want to maintain a certain amount of involvement with their advisor during the Parental Leave period. This involvement should be mutually agreed upon by the student and the faculty member.

Short-term Parental Leave Procedures: Parental Leave may extend up to four consecutive weeks. Graduate students who seek Parental Leave should complete a Short-Term Parental Leave form, attach a copy of their academic plan for the leave, and have the form signed by their faculty advisor and program/department chair. The form must be submitted to the Graduate School no later than eight weeks prior to the anticipated start date of the leave. The student and graduate program will be notified in writing of the Graduate School’s decision on the Short-Term Parental Leave request. In addition, if the student is on an assistantship appointment, the Graduate School will work with the program to provide funds for the continuation of the student’s salary during the leave period. After the period of approved leave, graduate assistants are entitled to return to their assistantship positions for the duration of their current appointment.

Absences beyond Short-Term Parental Leave: The Short-Term Parental Leave plan does not cover medical situations or complications due to childbirth. Programs may provide additional unpaid time off beyond the Parental Leave based on the student’s documented needs, but university policies regarding reasonable accommodation and/or Graduate Leave must be followed. Graduate students should apply for an official leave of absence (see Graduate School Policies and Procedures, Chapter 5) from their graduate studies if they anticipate being absent for an entire semester or more. Students should be advised that there is no guarantee of an assistantship position after returning from an absence beyond the short-term Parental Leave.
